

Cleveland Astronomical Society
www.clevelandastronomicalsociety.org

Archive
For
September 4th, 2014

The Harvard Computers

Speaker: Gary Kader

In the early twentieth century, Edward Charles Pickering decided to hire women as skilled workers to process astronomical data. Among these women were Williamina Fleming, Annie Jump Cannon, Henrietta Swan Leavitt and Antonia Maury. Their contributions to the science of astronomy were profound.